

ICC Dismisses Bus Co. Lease Petition

(Special from Springfield)

The petition of the Community Coach Co. for approval of lease of property for housing buses has been dismissed by the Illinois Commerce Commission at the voluntary request of the utility. The request is understood to have been made by possible changes in the company organization because of the death of one of the principals involved.

The dismissal order last week followed several hearings and conferences and then the death of Donald G. Spalding, who had been a large shareholder in both the Community Coach Co. and the Madison Avenue Real Estate Co., the latter owning the property the utility seeks to lease. The property is at 16th and Madison avenue.

The lease involved an overall expenditure of $100,000 a month rent. The two companies reportedly agreed on the lease, subject to the commission approval, following expiration of a three-year lease at a rental of $1000 a month which expired last summer. It is understood the coach company will file a new petition.

Testimony at the hearing was that under the agreement the real estate company was to have paid the general taxes each year in an amount not to exceed the taxes for the year 1961 with general taxes in excess of the 1961 amount. Evidence was that only one in Granite City capable of providing facilities for the coach company's needs.

The evidence also was that shareholders of the real estate company were also shareholders in the coach company, so much so that both the late Spalding and Stearns, head control of the utility, Stearns, president of the coach company, filed the original petition.

plant. With the separated system the estimated cost of an adequate treatment plant would be $120,000. Without the separated system, the cost of the much larger plant that would be required to handle all the sewage is estimated to be $2,800,000; and,

WHEREAS, such a city financed project would entitle the community to credit for urban renewal grants whereby the federal government would contribute $2 for every $1 spent locally. The city could get grants of approximately $2 million for such federal aid for various much needed community improvement projects; and,

WHEREAS, a city owned and controlled sewer system and sewage treatment plant would provide another tool with which the city could control and facilitate the growth of our area; and,

WHEREAS, the plan recommended by the Citizens Committee would take care of Granite City's sewer needs until 1960; and,

WHEREAS, on July 31, 1961, the State Sanitary and Water Board issued an order banning the addition of any extensions to the city's existing sewer system. As a result of this order the community's growth has been virtually strangled; and,

WHEREAS, residential, industrial, commercial and institutional development is being stifled by the state order.

WHEREAS, if our city had the recommended sewer and sewage treatment facilities, it could continue to develop and provide needed job opportunities for our citizens.

WHEREAS, we strongly believe as a matter of fundamental principle that the best government is the one which is closest to the governed because it best knows and understands the needs and problems of the people.

IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED that the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce go on record as strongly favoring the approval by the Granite City Council of:

Madison Laclede Plant To Concentrate On Bars

The Madison plant of Laclede Steel Co. will be able to concentrate more on bar production due to planned construction of a new bar and rod mill at the Alton plant, President William M. Akin said Saturday in an annual statement to shareholders. Present rod capacity of the firm is considered inadequate.

A general expansion program will continue this year at about the same rate as in 1961, when property and plant expenditures were $1,991,237.

Akin noted severe competition from both domestic and foreign mills, pointing to low ocean rates and low labor costs in Europe and Japan. Laclede has operated at full capacity in 1962 after producing 553,489 tons of ingots last year, compared to 496,588 in 1960. Rated capacity is 620,000 tons.

Earnings, previously reported, were $2,866,285, down from $3,906,089. Sales were $69,517,433, compared to $70,248,910 in 1960.

Local Catholic churches have no affiliation nor will they distribute a directory for which advertisements are being solicited in this area, it was announced Friday by Harlan Dobry, manager of the local City-Cities Chamber of Commerce office.

Dobry said he was notified by a businessman that a man attempted to collect $37 for an advertisement for a Catholic directory, and calls to local Catholic church pastors showed they knew nothing of the directory and were not sanctioning the solicitation.

"The salesman left the local business firm and departed in a blue and white auto with Missouri license, it was reported."

Mrs. May Hawks Serving 40th Year As Postmaster

"I could retire now, but I don't think I would be satisfied just sitting around and not doing anything."

This is the way Mrs. May Hawks feels about her future. As for her past, she will soon complete 40 years as Mitchell postmaster.

Mrs. Hawks will be honored at a testimonial dinner this evening, given by the Mitchell Kiwanis Club. Speaker will be W. S. Plant, postmaster at National Stockyards.

Plant's talk, appropriate to the occasion, will be entitled "The role of our fair lady in the U.S. Postal Service."

"To the people in and around Mitchell, the role of Mrs. Hawks has been a significant one. She has managed her own small grocery store since the death of her husband 14 years ago, is an accomplished musician who used to have her own orchestra, and is organist for St. Elizabeth Church."

She really does not care whether people refer to her as "postmistress" or "postmistress," and she enjoys her work as long as she feels she is doing service. Her age, she says, is not something she wants put in the newspaper.

The Mitchell post office no longer serves the area it once did. Granite City's rural delivery route has taken over most of the area. The post office now contains 156 boxes, some serving more than one family. Altogether, about 200 families pick up their mail there.

Limited Pay Then
But this is only one of many changes in the postal service since Mrs. Hawks became postmaster in 1922. In those days, her salary was an amount equal to the amount of stamps cancelled through her post office.

Handling of mail has changed vastly during her 40 years of service, the postmaster says. In earlier days, she was responsible for having a mail messenger to pick up the mail at the post office, then get it on the train. The railroad was the only way mail was moved in those days, she adds.

"As I remember, the job only paid about $10 a month," she recalls, "and it was hard to get anyone but an old man to take it. The mail had to be put out on a crane for the train to pick up as it went by, and it was a dangerous job."

Use of the highway post office service has been a tremendous aid to postal service, Mrs. Hawks says, and it has made her job easier. Now, a truck picks up the mail at her door and she no longer has the responsibility of getting it to the railroad.

Mrs. Hawks has no intention of keeping the job as postmaster when she took it. When the previous postmaster died early in 1922, she took over the job temporarily. That July, she got an appointment as acting postmaster, and on Nov. 22 she was appointed postmaster.

Too Much Responsibility
"I wouldn't have kept the job all this time," she says, "but I always helped the grocery store out. It's just too much responsibility, even in a small fourth class postoffice."

Almost three years ago, the Hawks Grocery and Mitchell post office were moved to their present location south of the new Interstate Route 270 overpass and west of the railroad tracks. The building is on Maryville road.

Before that, they had been located the entire period of her service at the same place north of the present location. When construction of the new Interstate route began, however, the post office was in the way, and had to be removed.

Born in Mitchell, Mrs. Hawks has lived there most of her life. She had her own six-piece orchestra for several years until she moved to Granite City in 1922. She has lived there most of her life. Long Lakes Amvets 187 Favor County Zoning
The Quad-City area's 12th organization to endorse the proposed county zoning and land use program is Long Lakes Amvets Post 187 at Pontiac Beach.

Commander Stephen R. Horsdeck notified the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce on Friday of the post's action.

"We believe the plan provides much needed protection of property values for all county residents," Horsdeck said.

The local C. of C. office is compiling a list of organizations favoring the program and is forwarding resolutions adopted by the groups to the county supervisors.

Madison Leads Kahoks Worst Defeat In 11 Years; Breezes To Regional Championship At Wood River

Freeman Fabulous As Trojans Hang 83-44 Haymaker On Defending Champs

"Boy," said one of the 3600 slightly crushed basketball fans in the Wood River gym Friday night just before the final game of the regional tournament, "it's not often you get to see the defending champions play the state's only unbeaten team."

Roughly an hour and a half later there was no team which could be called the defending champion, and the high school of Sixth and Farish streets in Madison still claimed the state's only "perfect" squad.

Led by fabulous, free-wheeling, fluid-drive Don Freeman, the Trojans had just annihilated what was the proper verb—Collinsville's once-proud Kahoks by an unbelievable margin of 39 points, 83-44.

While Earl McClanahan's 27-0 club was happily posing for photographers and gapping down a second round of soft drinks in a dressing-room celebration, in another part of the Wood River gym Coach Vergil Fletcher and his Kahoks sat in silence.

Worst in 11 Years
They were aware that they had been badly trounced, but perhaps unaware that the loss was the most lopsided suffered by a Collinsville team in 11 seasons.

Fletcher was amiable—he could afford to be after watching a contest in which his team led only once (2-0), and then folded and was never a challenger.

"We were much too tense, and when you're tense you make mistakes," he said, and added, almost as an afterthought, "And you can't make mistakes against that club."

"I hope they go all the way," added Collinsville Assistant Coach Bert Weber. "It would be nice for another undefeated champion to come from around here."

Few Mistakes
"Mistakes" did not fit into Madison's record of a regional title and the opportunity to seek greater glory this week in the Granite City sectional, and the Trojans made very few Friday night.

Continuing to impress court-side observers with their lightning-quick moves and devastating full-court press, Madison pulled away to a 17-1 first quarter lead as Forward Bob Hayes hit his first three shots and Freeman got away to a good start toward a 35-point evening by sinking eight points.

One of his baskets came on a beautiful piece of fakery which had everybody in the gym—including his teammates—stunned. The "El" slipped to the baseline, took a pass, and then Williams' coach, Chuck Osborn, was named coach of the year by his fellow members.

Bradley defeated St. Louis University a week ago in a game witnessed by many Granite City fans, and will play Cincinnati to break a first-place tie between the two clubs in the MVC.

The winner will go to the NCAA post-season tournament and the loser to the National Invitational Tournament.

Centralia Biggest Threat

Madison, Unbeaten In 27 Games, Must Win 6 More To Stay That Way

Madison, drawing college talent as well as basketball buffs, has six more games remaining on its schedule.

Six, that is, if Earl McClanahan's Trojans are going to advance to the Illinois school boys basketball finals, and six victories if they are to achieve ownership of the title trophy.

One doesn't have to search back very far to discover that the last unbeaten team to win the state title was Collinsville, the club which Madison eliminated Friday night at Wood River.

The Kahoks walked home in 1951 with a 32-0 record and Madison could surpass that single season victory total only if the Greenmen win the title. A state championship would give them a 33-0 record.

Centralia's quick and talented Orphans, looking for a home at Champaign, loom as the biggest threat to Madison's title hopes, although McClanahan is noted for playing them "one at a time" and will be concentrating on his first foe in this week's Granite City sectional, Southwestern of Platts.

Play Platts Wednesday
The two teams will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m., and McClanahan is not regarding the 15-10 Birds lightly. The consensus in these parts, however, is that MHS will breeze past the westerners and also handle the winner of Thursday night's game here, either Belleville (22-4) or Litchfield (15-8), in Friday's final.

Tourney Sightings
Collinsville's Ron Motin, who played a good part of this season with contact lenses, switched back to conventional glasses before the regional. It did not seem to affect his shooting, although he had the specs knocked off several times.

Don Freeman would have headed the list if an all-tourney team had been selected, but many coaches who watched Lincoln's Bob Chavis play for the first time during the tournament were mentioning him in the same breath, Chavis' coach, Stan Lynch, said only a few inquiries had come in from colleges interested in Chavis.

"That's because nobody has seen us play until now," Lynch said. Chavis hit 32 and 36 points, respectively, in his two regional appearances, and inquiries concerning the 6-1 senior should definitely pick up.

Lincoln's 88-69 win over Alton Tuesday night was the Rams' first regional tournament victory in the history of the school. Winners of six straight district titles, Lincoln's coaches had always been beaten in the first round of the regional tourney.

Collinsville's defending state champion Kahoks were actually facing state champions in their own right Thursday night against Coach Stan Lynch's Lincoln of Venice squad. Lynch guided the same team to the Illinois grade school crown four years earlier at Rantoul.

College scouts from at least a dozen schools in the northwest attended one or more sessions of

If so, Madison most likely will meet the Orphans in the East St. Louis sectional on its schedule.

That possibility already is being regarded by some as the state tournament "final" where probably the two finest teams in the state could meet outside of Champaign, with the winner advancing to Huff gym with seven other "super" survivors, many of which—in it tended to do not belong on the same basketball court.

Centralia (28-2) plays Triad (20-5) Wednesday in the Salem sectional, with the winner playing Friday against the survivor of Thursday's Flora (14-13) Shelbyville (23-3) game.

The "luck of the draw" continues to follow this area's sectional winner again in 1952. The survivor at East St. Louis is scheduled to meet the Chicago area entry in the quarterfinals at Champaign — in all probability DuSable, the state's No. 2-ranked team.

"We" gave the players two days off — Saturday and Sunday — but the Trojans will work out this afternoon and again tomorrow.

"We didn't work between the last two games of the regional, and I think we were a lot sharper than Collinsville because of it," he said this morning. "We want to stay sharp, so that means we'd do a lot of shooting today and tomorrow, and will probably stress one of our offenses a little more than the others."

the tournament. Bradley and Iowa were represented, along with Illinois, by the person who Howe Braun, assistant coach of the Illinois, who has been filling in for Coach Harry Conlies, plagued by an ulcer.

A majority of the state's top-ranked clubs passed regional tests with flying colors. DuSable, Centralia, Madison, Rock Island, Quincy, Bloomington, Rockford, Auburn, Bridgeport and Decatur all advanced to sectional play.

Eliminated early in an upset was 11th-ranked Carmi. Other ranked teams which were eliminated by 4th-ranked Moline and 5th-ranked Collinsville, and in the first round of the tournament were Peoria, Richwood, and Waukegan, all of which lost in Friday championship games.

Missed Hall, Hatter

"I only wish we could have been at full strength against Collinsville," said Lynch after the loss Thursday night. He added that he was not too unhappy because "My boys played their best."

In regard to his full-strength statement, Lynch noted that Tom Hall ran into early foul trouble and Charlie Hatter was ejected after 19-18 after the close of the third quarter with just one personal foul.

Collinsville kept its 13-point lead as the Kahoks led 42-29 at the half. Lincoln pulled to within 10 points, 49-39 in the third quarter but a sudden lag in the scoring sent the Kahoks back into a comfortable lead.

Collinsville led 68-44 with eight minutes to go. Lincoln's scoring: Chavis 36, C. Chavis' 36 was the team's leading performer with a 25-plus average, was whistled for his fourth foul with 6:12 remaining in the second quarter. He sat out the rest of that quarter and all of the third period.

This left the scoring burden on Bob Chavis, who accepted the responsibility and responded with 13 beautifully-executed field goals and 10 free throws to lead all scorers with 36 markers.

However, Chavis' one-man show could not cope with Collinsville's six-man effort. Lincoln only trailed 27-25 when Hall was taken out. The Kahoks then reeled off nine straight points to set the stage for the rout. The Rams had trailed 19-18 after the first eight minutes of play.

Sales Tax Ruling To Net State 'Millions'

Ill. Attorney General William G. Clark late last week said many millions of dollars will be collected annually by the state under a new court decision sought by his office from a three-judge federal court. It held that the state can levy its sales tax on proceeds of goods sold by Illinois retailers and contractors to the federal government.

Suit was filed in March 1960 by the U. S. and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. against the state revenue department, and all parties stipulated that there are over 1440 Illinois persons or firms engaged in sales to the Department of Defense, with contracts exceeding $623,635,000. Olin makes aircraft parts in East Alton.

It was contended that the sales tax violated the constitutional ban against a state taxing the federal government. The three-judge court held the tax unconstitutional in February 1961 as discriminatory in exempting Illinois and its municipal governments. Later, the General Assembly amended the law to eliminate all exemptions but sales for charitable, educational and religious purposes. Clark appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court to stay the February 1961 injunction against sales tax collections, and it was vacated. The March 1962 decision followed on a review of the case, ordered by the Supreme Court due to the statute changes and other court decisions.

Reading Aid, Teaching Guides Stressed In GC

Greater emphasis on reading instruction and test interpretation, improvement of instructional material and guides, and expanded in-service training have been cited by Granite City school district elementary principals in annual progress reports to Supt. Harold M. Kaiser.

Areas of most progress cited include:

Speeding of tests for the handicapped, enabling them to be referred to special classes. Faster identification of pupils in need of remedial reading assistance. Improvement of instruction in such fields as art, science, mathematics and physical fitness.

Expanded use of audio-visual aids. Improvement of outside play areas. Greater use of supplementary reading books. Increased parent-school contact. Closer coordination of the program among classrooms in a school and schools in the district. Reduction in behavior problems.

More individual guidance of children. Organization of study committees. Efficient bus transportation. Observation of teachers and children at work. And grouping of pupils by achievement.

Successes Noted

Projects singled out as especially well done were stepped-up parent conference program, recruitment, quick delivery and economical use of instructional supplies, greater use of the district's testing program, more study of pupils' cumulative records.

Port Authority Preparing For Revenue Bond Sale

Final preparations are being made by the Tri-City Regional Port Authority for sale of revenue bonds in the near future to begin development of harbor and warehouse facilities. Condr. John Barron, general manager of the port district, said the sale date and amount of the bond issue have not yet been determined.

He added that the authority currently is negotiating with about 100 firms on looking operations at the Chain of Rocks canal harbor site, which is to feature high speed loading and unloading equipment as well as storage warehouses. "However, there's nothing to be announced at this time," the manager said.

The district is also arranging lease of warehouse space at the old American Car & Foundry Plant in Madison.

The authority has under lease from the federal government approximately 180 acres of land at the harbor site of the canal and is seeking an additional 15 to 20 acres from the East Side Levee & Sanitary District to provide an access to the proposed new river front highway, Federal Aid Route 151.

Barron explained the location of the highway was changed slightly, and the acreage is being sought to put the port district property adjacent to the new roadway.

A request has been submitted to the levee board trustees who have referred it to their attorneys for a legal opinion. The port authority is asking the tract to be obtained without cost, but with the agreement that the levee district would be permitted to negotiate the sale of a portion of it to the state highway department should that become necessary.

The tract is located in the vicinity of the Illinois Terminal Railroad harbor spur crossing over Rock road and includes most of the old city dump. The levee district no longer needs it since levee protection is now afforded by the dikes along the canal.

Mrs. Knaus Incorrectly Identified In Obituary

In a story in Thursday's issue the late Mrs. Mary Knaus of Belleville, a former Granite Cityan, was incorrectly identified as Mrs. Mary Knaus. Mrs. Knaus passed away Tuesday after a long illness.

She was the widow of Dominick Knaus, and had made her home for the past eight years at 819 Bristol avenue, Belleville, with a daughter, Mrs. Stella Orlet. Funeral services were conducted here Saturday.

The Press-Record regrets the error.

Joint Animal Shelter Economical For Cities

Economy through cooperation of neighboring governmental agencies is exemplified in the Madison-Venice animal shelter, in the opinion of Madison City Comptroller E. J. Miller, who estimates that costs would have been double if the cities had set up separate dog pounds.
 Each city shared the $11,538 construction cost, with Madison paying 56.05% or $6,467 and Venice the remaining $4,951 or 42.95% of $5,071, the division being based on the comparative populations.
 Operation and maintenance costs also would have been approximately twice those being encountered, interviews with Miller and Venice City Comptroller Carl E. Byrnes show.
 Estimates of the yearly operating costs have not yet been made.
 Mayors of the two cities have appointed police officers to act as on-call humane officers, in addition to their regular duties.

They are Patrolman Frank Duko, 1808 Fifth street, of the Madison police and Patrolman Ralph D. Brawley, 1212 Logan street, of the Venice department.
Located In Venice
 The two officers share maintenance duties at the concrete block structure, located at Bissell and Klein streets, Venice.
 The city of Madison is taking responsibility for any repairs to the shelter, billing Venice for its percentage of the cost at the year's end.
 Brawley reports that the shelter has held as many as 30 dogs at a time, with an average of 18 to 20, most of them strays. Animals are kept from seven to ten days, or longer if they wear collars, before being destroyed. Puppies born at the shelter are given away. Before a dog can be reclaimed, it must have a city license tag and rabies inoculation certificate.

Farm Column

By TRUMAN W. MAY
Madison County Farm Adviser

As the first few hints of spring appear, many of us start thinking about our home garden. Vegetables direct from the garden are fresher, higher in quality and generally cost less than those in the market. In addition, it's an interesting summer hobby that gets the whole family outdoors.

To get the most out of your garden, make plans now and follow the proper steps during the gardening season. It's Crucial 816, 'Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide.'

The guide includes recommendations on varieties and planting dates for year-around preparation of seedbed, cultivation, watering—all the help you'll need to make a home garden that's the pride of the neighborhood.

Now that you've had a chance to look through the latest seed catalogs, pick up your copy of the Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide for the latest recommendations this summer's garden. By ordering seeds early, you'll have a better selection of varieties than later. Start planting inside—tomatoes, peppers and the like—will do a great deal to relieve the boredom of a long winter.

Farmers can't expect to put a total conservation plan into operation overnight. But, by working out a farm plan with the county soil conservationist, they may realize profits from a sound conservation program sooner than they anticipated.

A study of the Crab Orchard Lake watershed in southern Illinois showed that the total cost of establishing the recommended conservation program would amount to an average of $38 an acre for the watershed.

The study indicated that the conservation program would boost the average annual total value of crops produced on the land from $21 to $29 an acre. Only four years of increased production resulting from the conservation program would pay for the cost of establishing it.

The diverted acres of the 1962 feed grain program offer farmers an opportunity to receive payments for seeding a portion of their farm to grass and legumes.

At the same time they can receive an incentive payment for installing permanent soil conservation practices, such as terraces, ponds and waterways, under the ACP program.

The pole-barn with hay-to-ground-storage along the back wall is common in many farm families in Madison county. This barn arrangement does cause some problems in hay feeding. Hay is fed in bunks inside the barn on many farms. In many cases, hay is carried or hauled and fed in the door bunks, because many cattlemen believe that cattle will eat more hay, waste less bedding and need less barn space when hay is fed in outdoor bunks.

Jonathan Rogier of Helvetia township believes it is easier to take the bunk to the hay than it is to carry the hay to the bunk. He built a four foot wide and 18-foot long bunk on wheels to self-feed hay to 20 Holstein cows. He used front axles and wheels from junked automobiles to keep the bunk level to less than 30 inches. The far end of the bunk is hinged at the bottom so that it can be stepped for easier loading of hay.

Madison county farmers consigning cattle to the recent Southwestern Illinois Aberdeen-Aberdeen Breeders' sale at National Stock Yards were Maurice C.

Hull, Edwardsville; Leslie Kneff, Pocahtons; and Delma May, Pocahtons. Since milk is about $7 a cwt, a high-producing dairy cow needs lots of water. She will drink more if water is available at all times. Experiments show that cows with water always available drink about 4% more than cows watered twice a day and 8 to 10% more than those watered only once a day.

A new circular, the 'Illinois Forage Handbook' was distributed at the Forage Facts Round-up at Highland last week. It contains much up-to-date practical information on the production and use of pasture, hay and silage for dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep and hogs. You can get a copy at the farm adviser's office.

The keys to profitable forage production are high yields and a well-managed program that makes maximum use of forage crops. This handbook is designed to help boost the profit from your forage-producing acre.

One of the many items mentioned at the Highland meeting was the increasing use of an alfalfa-orchard grass combination for pasture and hay. Seedling rates are 6 to 8 lbs. alfalfa and 4 to 6 lbs. orchard grass per acre.

The ten highest milk-producing herds in the Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the last month of testing were owned by Harold Bauman, Normann Henke, Arthur Braumier, Leland Steiner, C. C. Becker & Son, Elmer Klenke, Milton Hite, Clarence Stevens, Waldo Kelbach and Harold Klenke.

The annual meeting of the Madison County Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be held the evening of March 13 at the Farm Bureau building, Edwardsville. Ralph V. Johnson of the dairy department, University of Illinois, will speak. All interested dairymen are invited.

Recent research indicates that Illinois families are spending more money for recreational purposes. In 1960 both town and country families allocated 5 to 6% of their expendable income for this purpose.

Harold Hosto, secretary of the Home Growers' Association, reports that Indiana growers have not yet negotiated contracts for their 1962 acreage. He states that growers in this area are planning not to complete their contracts until after the next association meeting.

Detailed cost-accounting farms in Illinois have reduced by 1/12 the number of machine operations, or trips over the corn fields since 1952. Corn fields were worked 2 1/2 times less with harrow, seed and cultivator in 1960 than 1952, but one time more with spraying and fertilizing operations. These changes have been profitable on most farms.

STATE SENATOR

WHAT QUALIFIES A MAN TO BE A GOOD STATE SENATOR?

In the 47th Senatorial District of Madison, Jersey and Greene Counties, everyone who has seen the recent Saturday Evening Post must have been concerned by the headline on the cover — "WE WASTE A MILLION KIDS A YEAR."

KIDS are America's most important product, and its important production line is the FAMILY.

So a very important qualification for a State Senator is his background, his understanding and his experience with the problems of the FAMILY — its kids, its home, its taxes, its schools.

Madison, Jersey and Greene Counties need a State Senator with a focal viewpoint, who understands the problems of his home community, to speak for them in the State Senate, and to represent the interests of their families and their kids.

On this point PAT O'NEILL qualifies.

Nameoki Township Expecting Data On Federal Funds

Procedures required to apply for federal planning funds for the proposed sanitary sewer system in Nameoki township should be available next week, Supervisor Harry Briggs reported to the Nameoki town board Thursday evening.

An outline of steps to be taken by the township is being prepared by the Chicago engineering firm of H. W. Lochner, Inc., through the cooperation of the East Side Levee & Sanitary District.

Briggs said property owners in the Pontoon Beach State Park Place areas are expressing interest in securing sanitary sewers, and that preliminary talks with Levee Board President Lawrence Tolar indicate the levee district would aid the township with the project.

It was the levee district, he said, that arranged for the Lochner firm to supply Town Atty. Nick Vassileff and the board with the preliminary data to file an application for federal planning funds.

During the remainder of the meeting, the board went over the proposed budget which is to be submitted at a public hearing at 7:30 p. m. March 27 prior to the annual town meeting at 7:30 p. m. on April 3 when it will be presented to town elections for adoption.

Area Lake Projects Outlined To Optimists

Col. Alfred J. D'Arzo, district engineer, U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, addressed the Granite City-Normal Optimists Thursday afternoon, outlining the Kaskaskia River basin and the Carlyle and Shelbyville reservoirs and levee projects.

He stated that construction of the $40 million Carlyle reservoir has already begun and is now well under way. D'Arzo added that pre-construction planning for the $30 million Shelbyville project is nearing completion. Work is programmed to permit completion of the Shelbyville reservoir by about fiscal year 1968, or about two years after Carlyle, he said.

Largest Man-Made Lake
When the two reservoirs are completed and operated as a unit, Carlyle will have a water surface area of 36,000 acres at joint use pool and a shore line of 55 miles. D'Arzo pointed out that it would be the largest man-made lake in Illinois.

Shelbyville will have a water surface area of 13,000 acres and a shore line of 115 miles. Although smaller, Shelbyville will be the more scenic because of the nature of its topographic environment and shore line. He predicted great recreation potential for the two lakes.

Col. D'Arzo said that by the 1970s an annual visitation of four million people at Carlyle and over four and a half million at Shelbyville can be expected. The visitors will include sight-seers, campers, boaters, fishermen and others, he concluded.

Guests present at the meeting at the Elks Club were Lowell Griffith of the Illinois Power Co. and Harry Wood of the U. S. Treasury Department.

Ruling On Inclusion Of Cities In Road Districts

Attorney General William G. Clark has held that cities, towns and villages within a county must either be included in a road district or created as a separate road district. This is true, he said, due to statutory provisions enacted in 1913 on laws relating to roads and bridges.

"Under this statute," Clark's opinion said, "cities, towns and villages should have been included in a road district or made a separate road district. This is a continuing duty of the county board, and where the county board has failed to act, it should take action at this time."

When a city is included within a county district, road taxes should be levied against property located in the city and the electors residing there are entitled to vote at road district elections he added.

INSU Alumni Meeting Series Starts Here Mar. 20

A series of Illinois State Normal University alumni meetings will be started in Granite City on March 20, when an address will be given by Harry O. Jackson, an assistant professor at ISNU.

Scheduled to take place throughout the state, other meetings will be held in Springfield on March 22, Roseville on the 27th, Belleville the 28th and Kewanee on the 29th. The meetings are expected to attract hundreds of students' parents, alumni and guests.

License Suspended

The operator's license of Carl A. Macke, Marvill, has been suspended by the license division of the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter for reasons of causing or contributing to an accident resulting in death or injury. Carpenter's office said this week.

BEWARE OF USELESS RHEUMATIC CURES.

Our ancestors believed that if they turned their shoes upside down by the bed before retiring it would cure rheumatism. Of course you know better. But, many useless and potentially harmful remedies and gadgets are still being sold to the thoughtless. Ask our opinion before buying any remedy, particularly those sold by mail or peddlers. We sincerely believe anyone with rheumatic pains should depend on their physician for advice on what to take.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

The 22nd Congressional district ranks 13th highest among Illinois districts in percentage of literacy, and Macoupin county is higher in literacy among the five counties of the district, according to figures prepared by the education division of the Works Progress Administration.

In spite of the inclement weather Saturday evening, more than 300 persons attended the annual feast given by the Bulgarian Orthodox Church of this community at the Crystal ballroom in Madison.

The ceremony, customary for many centuries in the Balkan countries, has been continued in this country and previous years. The Lenten season of the church which began yesterday morning will continue until May 2. Aside from a difference of dates, the ritual of the Orthodox Church concerning Lent is practically the same as that of the Roman Catholic church.

According to reliable information received today, the formulating committee, representing the local scales of the five localities of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, working under signed scales with the Granite City Steel Company, went into conference with the union committee at 3 p. m. today. The meeting was requested by the union committee.

Although it could not be verified, it is understood the purpose of the meeting is to enter into preliminary discussions concerning an upward adjustment of wages.

The city of Venice Saturday received its certificate from the National Safety Council, signifying it has been placed on the honor roll by that organization for being one of only 139 cities out of 1013 which entered the contest that did not have a single fatal automobile accident within its limits during the year 1936.

Births led deaths nearly two to one in Granite City last month, but in Nankook the grim reaper scored with seven deaths and only six births, according to the records of City Clerk Edwin Rigg.

There were 52 births in Granite City during February and 27 deaths, Rigg's report shows.

SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE ILLINOIS STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY

HEALTH OF THE AGED
Geriatrics is a medical term derived from two Greek words meaning "care of old age." Thus it covers the study of diseases and care of the aged, a growing problem brought about by the advances of medicine.

What is old age? How can it be determined?
In 1850, the average length of life was 40 years. Persons achieving that age were considered old. Today, the average life span is near 70.

The chronological age, of the years spent in living, has nothing to do with the physiological age, which is the evolution of natural changes in the body. Many persons are spry and full of zest at 70 while on the other hand, there are some individuals who are "old" at 40.

Years Bring Body Changes
Actually, old age is not a disease but rather a condition when the tissues gradually decrease their resistance and elasticity.

Advancing years bring about many changes in the body which affect the kidneys, the heart, the eyes and the lungs. With increasing age, cancer, arthritis and heart disease have more opportunity to develop. Mental changes may be accelerated because of decreased circulation of blood to the brain.

Thus the process of aging, the problems of the aged and the more common diseases and ailments associated with aging are met by the physicians in a field of geriatrics.

Importance Of Nutrition
Children today must be taught the importance of good nutrition and good health, for thus can be

The E. M. B. Floral club met Friday in the home of Mrs. Vesta Anderson on Washington avenue with Mrs. Ed C. Williams, Albert Mound, Mrs. A. L. Metcalfe, Mrs. Grover Norwood and Mrs. Faust serving as hosts.

Others present were Mesdames Robert McClell, William McClell, Harry Evans, L. V. Stark, Leila Hareless, Frank Fox, W. A. Butler, Tala Wirt, Hattie Williams, Sara Kirkham, Ethel Ball, A. F. Morgan, Vesta Anderson, Betty, Frank Guth, Clara Noell and two guests, Mrs. Ethel Wolf of Mount Vernon and Mrs. Louise Wade.

The newly elected officers of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church were inducted Friday afternoon in an impressive ceremony conducted by the pastor, Rev. Ralph Lynn, in connection with the regular monthly meeting held at the church.

Mrs. Charles Pauly, who heads the group, presided and Mrs. A. Smith read a paper. Another of equal interest was given by Mrs. Brainerd Daniels, and the devotional service was led by Mrs. C. W. F. King.

Mrs. L. C. Kallenbach and Mrs. J. D. Strubbe, hosts for the afternoon, served refreshments after the meeting adjourned to the following members of the society:

Mesdames A. E. Smith, Charles Albers, W. T. Smith, J. S. J. King, C. C. Hughes, C. W. F. King, W. M. Kendall, Charles Pauly, W. K. Carroll, Theodore Kaseberg, G. W. Lipscomb, Katherine Daniels, Gus Karner, C. Reintjes, Joseph Reintjes, George Devine, George Malott, Otto Grose, Charles McCollum, P. Welch, Ralph Lynn, Louise Ed and Miss Mary Weikert.

"Nature's Science" was the topic of study Friday evening when the Junior Bay View Reading Club met with Mrs. Dorothy Minnick in keeping with the subject, Miss June Apple gave a comprehensive review of the book "Microbe Hunters," by Paul DeKruif, and plans were completed by the club for their guest day program to be held April 9, Miss June Homan, the president, was in charge.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. F. H. Alexander, Miss Appel, Mrs. Wendell Hoover, Miss J. L. Corey, Miss Jewel Gaspard, Mrs. Charles Knutson, Miss June Paulsen, Miss Patricia Paulsen, Miss Vivian Jones, Mrs. Charles Lewow Jr., Miss Virginia Lindsey, Miss Margaret Lyons, Miss Helen Morgan, Bethel Rhodes, Mrs. Ernest Stainton and Mrs. Howard Kutznerberg.

There were 15 ladies in attendance at a regular meeting of the Women's Democratic Club Friday afternoon in the Neighborhood House on Reynolds street in Madison.

Miss Pansy Williams, a graduate nurse, gave an interesting talk on "Common Diseases of the Mouth" and during the meeting a delicious lunch was served.

Ladies there were: Mrs. Mary Kravovich, Mrs. Clara Poole, Miss Ethel Stolaroff, Mrs. Amelia Stroud, Mrs. Frances Trijnt, Mrs. Helen Henley, Mrs. Julia Stimic, Mrs. Mary Economy, Mrs. Harold Harsh, Mrs. Gertrude Williams, Mrs. Gertrude McManaway and Miss Pansy Williams.

retarded the changes which are recognized in the aging process. Understanding is essential in those associated with the older person. Emotionally, his problem is great. Very often, a certain age marks his retirement from an occupation that has not only made him economically sound, but which has kept him busy and useful.

Providing a manager for community service projects will give a feeling of usefulness. A purpose in living is extremely important to every man and woman.

Contrary to the best medical thinking, industrial trends point to the compulsory retirement of workers, a major factor in the increasing unrest among older persons. It's a young world, they say, and our day is over, they say, and it's not theirs.

The skill and experience of the older person by placing him in a position where he can contribute on a limited basis, and thus retain his own individuality as a useful citizen.

Even part-time work will do much to keep the older person from becoming a community problem.

Zoning Foes' Tactics Would Be Funny If

Issue Was Not So Vital; Facts Being Obscured

It would be funny—the conduct of zoning foes at the series of hearings in Madison county—if the consequences of the zoning were not so tragic.

The script of the one-act farce in each township goes like this: The chairman opens the hearing by requesting specific suggestions for improving the proposed ordinance and map. Few or no constructive comments are voiced. Someone asks if zoning has cost the county $300,000, and it is told it has not. A spectator assails Southern Illinois University for wanting zoning protection. A third says he wants to give land to his son but is afraid zoning will prevent him. (It will not.) Another complains that full information on zoning has not been made available. (It has—and is.)

After a few more over-worked, oft-answered "questions" are submitted, there are rumblings against allowing the commission chairman to retain charge of the hearing. Someone who has spread anti-zoning propaganda in advance jumps up and calls for a "No" vote, obtaining a loud reply from the foes and those made fearful of zoning by the false charges. As the finale, a few muscular men indirectly—sometimes directly—threaten the safety of zoning commissioners and county board members.

It would all be pretty laughable, if it were not so destructive to the prospects of zoning passage.

It is not very comical, when these facts are considered:

1. Only zoning can protect people's investments in their homes and property.
2. Without zoning, the hope of adequate job opportunities and sharing of the tax burden is dimmed for all, including the extremely vocal opponents.
3. Legitimate objections to the tentative wording and classifications are welcomed, since they enable the documents to be perfected before being considered for adoption. No one wants to deprive anyone of his rights; the hearings could enable any potential problem to be solved in advance.

The dialogue and behavior performed on cue at each hearing represent an obvious effort to hide zoning facts with confusion and an atmosphere of suspicion and anger. Being only human, commissioners and supervisors may be swayed by the emotions. If that happens, it would not be funny any more, for Madison county's need for zoning is not make-believe, but very real.

ALL HAVE DUTY TO TEACH YOUTH LOVE OF FREEDOM AND NATION

You are to be commended for the many fine editorials of late. "The Youth of Tomorrow" is a timely, concise and a real public service.

Our once-sturdy American backbone has been voluntarily deprived of virtuous patriotism which supplied the desire for freedom, and the will to protect it. Most of us have "lost" our heritage to be granted.

It is the responsibility of each one to help preserve U. S. freedom and pass it on intact. We must make sure the next generation realizes the worth of their inheritance and the responsibility to their own posterity.

A false humanitarian philosophy, Communism gaining ground with people sincerely referred to as "the masses," is Communist dictators to see and hear more about their city government, the officials and their process in fulfilling their offices.

Our founding fathers knew there was far worse slavery than tangible shackles. A great republic was born in freedom and nurtured in freedom. We can adopt much the same program today, our first action being reinstatement of God in America.

Proudly we can say "I am an American" and mean it. We can promote respect for the Constitution. Atheistic doctrine and mere subsistence are not our way of life, nor the laws of our Constitution.

Any American student can make the home room a love of God and country, if taught well by parents and teachers.

Minority Party Has Obligation To Provide Candidates — And Good Ones

Lack of Republican primary candidates for six of seven Madison county offices and for state senator is unwholesome and harmful to both parties. Though in the minority here, the GOP has an obligation to present candidates—and good ones—who can strengthen the party and present to the voters a choice of philosophies and individuals.

A glance at the GOP ballot for April 10 shows a shocking number of blank spaces opposite important public offices. In permitting these offices to go by default, the party is abdication its responsibility. Without the two-party system, this nation could not operate as a democracy.

There is no reflection on current Democratic candidates, since they did not know Republican filings would be so sparse. But in the long run, lack of opposition can discourage outstanding office-seekers and encourage "hacks."

The local situation is especially surprising in view of the recent trend to conservatism in many areas, particularly among young people and college students.

50 Years Of Girl Scouting Have Built Character, Citizenship, World Friendship

Girl Scouts of the Quad-Cities are joining with 3,500,000 other U. S. members today in observing the golden anniversary of an international movement dedicated "to inspire girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service, that they may become happy and resourceful citizens."

Main phases of the scouting program—open to girls seven through 17 regardless of race, creed or nationality—are arts and crafts, literature and dramatics, music and dancing, community life, international friendship, nature, out-of-doors, sports and games, agriculture, health and safety and home-making.

In all of their activities, scouts try "to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times and to obey the Girl Scout Law." This is how it is done: truthfully, loyal, useful, friendly, courteous, kind to animals, obedient, cheerful, thrifty and clean in thought, word and deed.

Though the purposes of scouting include self-improvement, linked with the motto of "Be Prepared," Girl Scouts also are doing much to build friendship with people of the 51 nations in their association. In the past six years they have helped to almost 700 scouts from overseas, and nearly 1000 American girls have gone abroad in scouting exchanges.

Leprechauns Vs. Wooden Shoes?

Not In This Year's Tournament

Tournament time annually turns thoughts to high school athletics and the wondrous array of team nicknames, among which the Trojans, Happy Warriors, Red Devils and Rams are typical entries. In fact, names reminiscent of the Trojans—such as Spartans, Vikings, Pioneers and Cavaliers—predominate in Illinois along with those related to Indian tribes and fierce jungle animals.

Though some contend that the list is replete with names that defy classification—Examples are the Orphans, Tornadoes, Leprechauns, Appleknockers, Bunnies, Chainers, Zipperers, Artesians, Wooden Shoes, Pretzels, Bluebees, Spanglers, Porters, Sages, Sabos, Zeebees and Flying Geese.

Regional play has reduced the 737 schools in state basketball contention to 64, and sectional and district play will trim the finalists to eight. But even then, a wide variety in the entries' names is assured.

What's in a name? For the Trojans of Madison, it is a symbol of pride and achievement that surpasses all others—as it should when a team is tops in a state's athletic rank.

TAX FACTS

By Maurice J. Scott, Executive Secretary
Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

"A Taxpayer's Summary of Municipal Finance in Illinois" for the fiscal year 1961, was recently published by Michael J. Howlett, auditor of public accounts, provides every interested citizen with an opportunity to compare the expenses and revenues of his city or town with those of other municipalities in the state, the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois stated today. This report is prepared as a result of a law enacted in 1951, groups the municipalities by population within three geographical areas and is of special interest to legislators, civic organizations and office holders, because the information is in one place and provides an easy means of comparison.

Of the 1,232 municipalities in Illinois, 69.2% are under village government, 13.2% have a mayor-council type of government, 3.4% managerial, and 2.6% the town type of municipal government.

Reviewing the pattern of prior years, the property tax was the chief revenue producer in 1960 for the municipalities. It furnished 34.8% of the revenues. Following next in order were: sales tax, 13.2%; liquor license and wheel tax, 12.3%; motor fuel tax, 11.4%; parking facilities, 2.7%; and other taxes, 22.4% (fees, fines, permits, utilities, etc.).

An interesting chart in the report shows the breakdown of revenues produced per parking meter according to municipality. In fiscal 1960, a parking meter in municipalities under 100 population averaged about $14; in municipalities from 100 to 5000 population, about $74; in municipalities over 5000 to 10,000 population, approximately $66; and in municipalities over 10,000 population, approximately $88.

Auditor Howlett, with the able assistance of municipal officials and the members of the Municipal Audit Advisory Board, deserves credit for this well prepared report. Howlett also deserves the praise of taxpayers for running his office at substantially reduced costs. In the spring of 1961, he made a critical survey of the operation of the auditor's office, with the help of a professional consulting firm. By installing new procedures, eliminating duplication of effort and modernizing the office, he was able to handle more work with a smaller staff. If present costs remain constant for the remaining months of the current biennium, the auditor will return approximately $368,239 of his budgeted $2,033,170 payroll, or about 18.5%. This is good news to the taxpayer.

We should examine ourselves and learn what is the affection and purpose of the heart for this way only can we learn what we honestly are.

—Mary Baker Eddy

THE PASTOR SPEAKS

REV. C. M. O'GUIN

TRINITY TABERNACLE

As the multitudes saw the wonders of Pentecost, they were all amazed, and were in doubt saying, "What meaneth this?" Others asserted mockingly, "These men are full of new wine."

The inquiry of the many was far more worthy than the mockery of the "others," who doubtless were the few.

The mockers were insensitive. They cried "These men are full of new wine." New wine was new-intoxicating. Their statement was a slander against the events of the world-changing day.

The events of this day teach us that shutting our eyes to the truth does not alter it, and denying facts does not change them.

The mockers did not try to explain the "why" or the "how" of the crisis of the multitudes. They merely were amazed and baptized.

The prayers, praise and material gifts of the new converts, as well as the "rushing mighty wind," and the change in the one speaking, Peter to a man of power could not be humanly explained. They utterly astounded the power of God by which men of so many climes and languages could hear the Gospel, each in his own tongue. We note here what came to these first Christians, and in later years we have noted what came to Augustin, Calvin, Whitefield, Wesley and Spurgeon.

May we today follow them in the same way? Let us have the same close, let us have the same glory falls upon us.

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE ILLINOIS STATE BAR ASSOCIATION

IN COOPERATION WITH THIS NEWSPAPER

CONFESSION CLAUSES CAN BE DANGEROUS

Harold Harper wanted to buy some new furniture but he was short on cash. So he borrowed $300 from a loan company, and on March 1, 1959, he signed a note providing for repayment in installments over a 10-month period.

The papers Harold signed contained a small type which he didn't bother to read, and that's what his troubles began.

Harold dutifully made his monthly payments. In August he decided to sell his house. Under the real estate contract, he was to provide the buyer with a report showing clear title. Since he always paid his taxes and debts promptly, he was not concerned about this.

Imagine Harold's surprise when he learned that there was a $34 judgment lien against his title. Flabbergasted, he went to the lawyer who drew the title. When the lawyer checked Harold's papers, he found a copy of a Spanglers company's note, and the mystery was solved.

Confession of Judgment. The lawyer found that the note Harold signed in March contained a "confession of judgment." This is a perfectly legal provision, but it can be dangerous. It provides that Harold consents to a suit in court or service of summons.

Harold also agreed to pay at least $1000 in costs and attorney's fees. Judgment had been rendered against him without his knowledge.

by interested persons following the hearing.

No Further Hearings
Shanahan said the hearing required by federal law, was called merely to approve the location of the improvements, and since the roadway location already was established comments or complaints were being recorded to be forwarded to the Bureau of Federal Roads at Washington and to the state highway department office for consideration. He said there would be no further public hearings.

No formal protests were made on the established location, and persons who spoke gave approval of the state and federal plans for widening and resurfacing the roadway. Shanahan said for the next 20 years, with the convenience and economy of the local taken into consideration.

However, the engineers were criticized sharply by businessmen and householders over the design of the traffic divider, which they said would be primarily a barrier type with the installation of a six-inch curb in the middle of the four-lane pavement, specified by the federal government.

Pedestrian Problems

After it was outlined that electric traffic signals are to be installed at the Pontoon road and Fehling-Johnson Road intersections, Dr. Harold M. Kaiser, superintendent of schools, pointed to the need for controls at Coolidge junior high school. He said about a 1000 youngsters cross the highway and the hazard would be increased with the widening to four lanes.

Those present were: Paula Stephens, Debbie Rhoads, Sharon Barham, Susan Stephens, Roxann Bonworth, Betty Ann Fouts, Vickie Barker, Linda Bonatt, Nona Stroder, Susan Baker and Margaret Ann Bonworth, and daughters of the leader, Sandra Kay and Sharon Lucille.

install stop signs at the school and housing project.

A large number of businessmen with stores and shops along Nameoki road asked if mountable medians could be installed instead of the barrier curb to provide convenient access for their customers.

"Hurdle For Safety"
The engineers replied that the federal government and state highway department preferred the barrier type for safety reasons to provide a greater flow of traffic with a minimum of left turns. Altes said openings would be placed at all street intersections and at most alleys, as well as at institutions, such as schools.

When asked if U-turns were permitted at such openings, Altes said it was not advisable but would be controlled by city laws. "The basic idea for the barrier is to prevent left turns, but consideration is given to the convenience of neighborhoods to avoid the amount of round-the-block travel that would be required by motorists."

The roadway is to be 48 to 50 feet in width, with 11 or 12-foot traffic lanes and a four-foot median. Curb is to be installed on either side and side walks will be replaced with a space allowed between the sidewalk and curb where permitted.

Basically, the center line of the present roadway will be the center of the four-lane improvement, except for the section north of Madison avenue where the old Illinois Terminal Railroad trolley right-of-way will be utilized. Hiles said very little right-of-way is needed north of Madison avenue, and that competent appraisers would set "fair market values" on the property to be acquired.

The state, he said, not only will pay fair prices for the land, but also will offer settlements for damage to adjacent property. Many in the audience were persons with property south of Madison avenue, where considerable right-of-way will be needed to widen the roadway to four lanes. At least 10 or 11 feet on either side will be needed, some of which already is state right-of-way.

Advised To Contact Office
They were advised to keep in contact with the French Village office, since right-of-way plans for the section were still in preliminary stage. He was unable to say when they would be available.

Ross Benda, 2412 Nameoki road, commented, "There's so much yet to be explained. I can't say if I'm for or against the improvement. I don't know how much of my property will be taken. I'd like to see the improvement, but what will it do to my property?"

His question went unanswered. Harold Chiccut, 2412 Nameoki road, termed the hearing "meaningless," adding, "I know less now than when I came here. My problem is it takes me five minutes to back my car out of my driveway onto the two-lane pavement, what will it be when it's widened to four lanes?"

Engineer Shanahan said all comments would be considered, and on the problem at St. John's Cemetery, posed by Arthur Roman, secretary-treasurer, he said detailed study would be given. Roman said Rev. Paul A. Surbey, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, requested cemetery openings for driveways at the cemetery and church.

Roman also said about 100 graves are located along the edge of the cemetery's older section near the roadway, some dating back 85 years. "We don't know if we can locate the owners of that property."

When asked about drainage, the engineers replied natural flow and existing ditches and sewer lines would be utilized wherever possible, but that facilities would be added where needed.

she's the custodian of recorded knowledge...

Don't you sometimes wish world affairs were as well organized as a library? Or that people could get along with each other as well as they do with books? If she did nothing else for the community, the librarian would justify her existence by providing a haven of peace and quiet. But she does more than that. She brings people and knowledge together. And it's not an easy job. She selects the books, periodicals, newspapers, pamphlets, documents, films, recordings, photographs, maps, and other types of recorded knowledge which make up the library's collection.

For children she arranges story hours, gives book talks, visits schools, directs vacation reading clubs. For teenagers she plans programs and helps them with school reading assignments.

For adults she performs a variety of services—advising them on what to read, answering reference questions, organizing discussions. She introduces them to a world of recreation, scholarship, literature and modern technological sciences.

The librarian is the community's liaison with the world of recorded knowledge.
